They Threaten the Legislature in a Set of Characteristic Resolutions.

TITLE TO SEATTLE TIDE LANDS

The Oregon Improvement Company's Bights Are Being Questioned Bepresentative Brown Refuses to Bo Investigated.

Olympia, Jan. 28.—[Special Telegram.]—Your correspondent has learned upon the most reliable authority that John F. Carrers, who left this state some two mouths ago to become Semator Squire's private secretary, and who, since his return to this city on Friday last, has given out that he is no longer in the employ of the senator, is really here as Squire's agent to straighten out if possible the "hold-over" tangle. The fact is usdeniable that Carrers since his adreasy mere as Squire's agent to straighten out if possible the "hold-over" tangle. The fact is underliable that Carrere since his navout in the city has been anxiously holy hobbing with the hold-over senators, more particularly with Senator "Nick" Owings, in whose room it is now known the hold-over caucus was held on Thursday. Squire, it is said, has become alarmed at the condition of affairs in the state since the federal appointments and he given carte blanchs. appointments, and has given carte blanche to Carrero in his mission. Carrere fornight to Carrero in his mission. Onrere to night stremuously denies the report that he is here in Equire's interests and the hold-over senators are apparently as anxious as is the senalors are apparently as anxious as is the private secretary in denying the story. The legality of the terms of the "hold-overs" is a guestion assuming yast proportions and one doubtless the leading minds of the state will be called in to assist in deciding.

In connection with Carrere's presence in the city it may be added, that the private secretary intends becoming city editor of the new flaily about to be started in Spotence Falls, and which will be published it

kane Falls, and which will be published, it is said, largely in the interests of Senator

Ex-Chief Justice Hanford left Olympia this morning for Scattle, a much disgusted man. The judge has not heard from Wash-ington regarding the federal judgeship, for ington regarding the tederal judgeship, for which he was recommended by both sensitors, since Tuesday, and his feelings towards the president for the delay in making the appointment are not the most kindly. He tacitly admitted before leaving the capitol that there was a bitch somewhere, and in this belief the King county jurish has many supporters. It is believed here that this dalay is favorable to Calkins, and that that gentleman will be announted on Thissage by fay is favorable to Calkins, and that that gentleman will be appointed on Tuesday by the president over and above the recommendations of Washington's sensiors. Not with standing the fact that the King county delegation wired their endorsements of Hanford's candidacy on Thirsday it is a persistent truth that all the King county men feel that Squife would be ruining his own chances were he not to support Calkins.

Senator Squire's friends are somewhat disconcerted over the question as to the legality of the terms of office of the hold-over constors, and do not take much consolution from Judge Turner's advice that the hold-overs resign and settle the vexed question. Squire's friends have good cause for apprehension. Fourteen of the hold-overs supported Squire in November, and form a nucleus around which Boulre hopes to gather the forces that will re-elect him next January. King county has tire senators, and if it returns a full republican delegation next year, and it doubtless will, the have added to the fourteen would give Squire a majority of the senate to begin the battle with.

Everybody seems to think the legislature is either a target or a menageric. Now the abor unions are training their gans on the representatives of the people in legislature assembled. Western, Central Union-No. 1 of Scattle, which claims to be composed of most of the labor organizations of that city and the state, held a meeting the other night and demanded the passage of certain bills, which the union was confident would "add greatly to the prosperity and content-ment of the industrial masses of our state." Thereupon the union issued the appended

Senator Henry Drum, of Plerce county, is sing talked of as the democratic candidate recongressman next November. Mr. Drum joys the distinction of being the only emocrat in the senate, and he is the most opular-man of that body. He is a quiet, assuming, liperoughly practical man, and nesaming, theretighly practical man, and edemocratis would have to do some pretty if scouting in their ranks to find better ingressional material. Senator Long's highway bill is based upon the California law. It divides all counties into road districts and makes the county commissioners ex-officio road emasters. Long's county road bill is modeled after the Ohio law and provides that no road shall be less than thirty, nor more than sixty, lest wide. Applications for establishing chang-ing or vacating a county road must be made by petition of twelve freeholders to the county commissioners. Three viewers are then to be appointed and they have power to decide whether the road shall be built of

"NIGGER TRACT" SQUATTERS.

A Secret Onth-Bound Organization Cre-nting Some Faars of Trouble ut Tacoma. Tacoma, Jun. 26.—[Special Telegram.]— Settlers on the disputed "nigger trapt" have formed a secret organization of about sixty members of claimants to land in the "nigger tract," and taken oath to held their claim at all hazards and to stand by each other to the death if necessary. Enough has been learned to show that the men are thoroughly in earnest, no matter whether right or wrong, and that they will become stronger cannot be disputed, as almost every day sees a new shanty going up for some tenant and no new men will be tolerated on the tract who will not join this secret, eath-bound organization, and upbold its rules and regulations. Many of the citizens of before the matter is settled and the efficers of the law do not differ with them. Many of the equatters are ignorant of the laws and headless of consequences.

Roosevelt's Investigations Into Violations of Civil Service.

THE LAST CAMPAIGN IN NEW YORK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 .- Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt has submitted to the full committee a report of the recent avesti-gation into alleged violations of the civil ser-vice law in the New York custom house just prior to the last presidential election. Upon the subject of collection of political essments during that campaign, Roose-

The present law has put a complete sup to the open spollation of poor clarks and makes it comparatively difficult to mulet thein even secretiff. Government employes do not, as a vule, contribute simply from a desire to help the political cause in which they believe. In the contribute simply from a desire to help the political cause in which they believe. In the contribute simply in the political cause in which they believe in the fear their position will be jeconordized if they fail to do so. It is probably sate to say 30 per cent, of the money collected for political purposes from minor governmental employer septements of much blackmail. Those who agree in politics with the party in control feel some assurance of protection if they refuse to be coerced into parting with their money. But they have no power hobital the throne on which to rely, are nervously afraid of giving offense and yield helplessly when threatened. The amount paid is not absolutely very great in individual cases, but to a poor clerk just able to get along the loss of 3 per cent. of his salary may mean just the difference between having and not having a winter overcoast for himself, a warm dress for his The present law has put a complete step to the loss of 3 per cont. of his salary may mean just the difference between having and not having a winter overcost for himself, a warm dress for his wife or a Christmas tree for his children. Another fact to be remedied is that much of the money so collected is never turned into the party compaire chests at all, being kept for their own private uses by the jackalls who have collected it. One of the witnesses in the present cases, a strong republican who was holding office under the last administration testified he was attributed to conadministration, testified be was advised to con-tribute to the democratic empaign fund by one of his friends, a New York republican district leader, as being the only thing to do if he wished leader, as being the only thing to do if he wished to keep his place.

In the investigation of alloged violations of law against the making of political assessments, have made a more or less complete examination into the conduct in this respect of the office of collector, surveyor and navin officers of the port of New York during the presidential election of 1888. In the naval office, under Mr. Burt, my investigation goes for show the law was observed absolutely both in letter and spirit. So far as I can find out there were no collections made for political purposes in any shape or form, and nothing like political coercion was tolerated. In the collector's office under Magone there was an apparently widesprend but not universal, and an apparently widespread but not universal, and by no means always successful, effort to evade the must have been capt because they were especially singled out for more or less indirect solicitation, either personally or by a circular, and there is the testimony of a witness that this sellcitation was undertaken by express command of Magene's private sepretary, there being nothing to show, however, that Magene was aware of his secretary's action. The effort to make them contribute was made indirectly and usually so guardedly it is difficult to say that the law was actually violated in its letter. must have been kept because they were espelated in its letter.

In the surveyor's office under Beattle contributions, so far as is shown by the testimony of twenty-eight witnesses examined were universal. Democrats generally gave their money of their own accord, but the republican clerks were practically forced against their wishes to pay what wore in reality political assessments for the beautift of the opposite party. This was accomplished by an incomposite and was accomplished by an ingenious and widespread system of velled threats and intimiantions, so well carried out that it was completely successful. Every method was resorted to, while at the same time avoiding an actual demand of money. For instance, some of the witnesses were forced to contribute by being made very uncomfortable in their work until they did so. They were originally at work at stations near their homes and were suddenly shifted to others far distant and very inconvenient to go to. Their incurries failed to discover a reason for the change and they were kept at the new stations until they finally made up their minds to pey when they were transferred to their old places without a word being said.

The constermonger and his wife in Paris and Louidon are broken down prematurely from fatigue, and the stubling and fodder for a donker is a heavy tax on their profits, but their Belgian brethren can house their dogs with themselves. The dogs, after being unharnessed, dine with their masters, and in winter sloep before the kitchen fire. The strength of a good draft dog is marvellous. He does not spoil rouds like a horse, and when tired he asks to lie down, a favor always granted, and on being rested goes on again cheerfully.

COLLEGE SOCIETY INITIATION.

The Deightful Times Experienced by Freshmen—A Practical Juke.

Here is the reminiscence of a gray-haired old Bostonian, a graduate of Harvard and a man who has some reputation in the world of letters, and purhaps, more for his geniality and fine powers of companionship. This is his story, a good sample of all, he told in the New York Press;

"On the night of my initiation into my so ciety—I cannot name it in this co mection, for that I would consider a breach of loyalty—I want to the mystic hall with heavy heart and shuky legs. This particular band of brothers had a special reputation for ferocity, and I knew well enough that it was more than idle talk, too. But I was pledged and forward was the moral.

"I finally found myself mounting a pair of stairs in utter darkness. This was something stairs in uter darkness. This was something of a feat, for at intervals a board would turn under my foot, and one leg would descend into some unknown abyss, to the great disadvantage of my heattreasers and my shins. At the very jop I carefully pushed open the door and sprang a sort of water trap, from which about three gallons of the fluid, descended in a big baptism, soaking me completely. completely, "Having passed the water ordeal I en-completely.

"Having passed the water ordeal I entered and was violently seized by several shadowy forms, who appeared as sort of luminous grinning skuils, which effect is produced by pulling a shirt sleeve tightly over the face and rubbing it with phosphorus. Just try a shirt sleeve mask and see if it isn't a horrible sight even in the daytime. Well I was soon rid of my clothing and stretched out on a plank on which were placed various kinds of burrs and thistles, anything but a downy bed. Then there came a low, tomblike role: Fetch the red-hot irons, Disbolus.' Soon I could see through the darkness the gleum of the fiery metal. Nearer and nearer it came. The terrible voice whispered: 'Brand him in the neck.' A horrible bold of pain flashed down my spinal column, accompanied by the sound and actual smell of sizzling flesh. "With a yell that no stole could have repressed I leaped from the plank and stood in the full glare of many lighted lamps, with the society members dancing around me in hitarious glee. The branding? Well, they used a piece of ice, which gives much the seme sensation as hot fron, while a fine beefsteak was actually branded, furnishing my sensations of sound and smell."

Annie Jenness-Miller. Annie Jenness-Miller has accomplished in an uppromising direction a success that ought to be an inspiration to other ambitious New England gigls, says the Boston Herald. A little more than a dozen years ago she was living in Amesbury, Muss... unknown, untried, with no means to speak of, and beset, by discouragements on every hand, yet engerly watching for an opening through which to make a place for herself in the world. Her first earnings came from millinery work, at which she served most acceptably without an apprenticeship. When sufficient means were secured she took a course in elecution in a Boston school, and prepared berself for platform work. Through her canvass for Benjumin F. Butler in this state in 1882 she became generally known to the public. She tried her hand at novel writing, and gave lectures on temperance and other topics. It was at one of these lectures, it is said, that Mr. Miller first saw Annie Jenness, and tell so deeply in-love that several years of married experi-ence have not diminished his devotion. Four or five years ago she became interested in reform dress as a means of restoring bei nealth. She made it a study, experimented antil she found berself well and comfortevolved a system, and put it before the world in a manner that challenged admiration. As the apostle of the dress beautiful and comfortable Mrs. Miller has won fame and comfortable Mrs. Miller has won fame and following. One result of her lectures when she crossed the continent, a year or so ago, is a cinb of society ladies in Chicago who study physical culture and who dress according to the Jenness-Miller system. The Women's Christian Tempenance Union in many localities present her ideas as a part of their effort toward better living in all directions. Mrs. Miller's success illustrates the power of youth beauty crace wit and good power of youth, benuty, grace, wit and good sense, combined, to change that which was a hiss and byword hito something to be ad-mired and adopted. She is now reaping a golden harvest from the seed scattered by the wayside and in stony places by "crank dress reformers" during the past forty years.

Elgin Branch Railroad. LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL

Extensive Development of the Lumbar Industry-

A Quarter Millian Dollars Epont in Improvements During the Past Year. La Ghande, Jan. 21.-[Special Correspondone.]—A real estate deal wis consumnated in La Grande yesterday that far eclipses anything of the kind in the matter of importance to the control of the con anything of the kind in the matter of importance to the town's growth and progress. One hundred acres of land adjoining the corporate limits tween purchased by the La Grande Land Company. This company is a new organization and its list of officers includes ex-Senator James H. Slater, president; W. H. McDonald, cashier of the La Grande National bank, vice president and treasurer, and J. D. Slater, of La Grande, secretary. Some of the principal stockholders of the association are prominent capitalists of New Haven-Coan, including Henry L. Hill, of the banking firm of Hill, Trow-L. Hill, of the banking firm of Hill, L. Hill, of the banking firm of Hill, Trow-bridge & Co., and Messrs. L. Harrison. Wayne, A. Hoevey, W. A. Spaulding and William H. Leuds. The spital stock of the association is $100,000. The company will immediately plat their tract of land, and, it is understood, have also in contemplation the purchase of other tracts in this vicinity. This purchase is considered one of vast importance and significance, inasmuch as it is by large odds the heaviest invest-ment yet made by outside capitalists. It is bardly necessary to say that the magic growth of such places as Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle has been made possible only by the attraction of outside capital. La Grande people now feel that the tide has certainly turned in their favor, and are no only-confident, but almost jubilant over the wn's brilliant prospects. Mossrs. Hill and Leads arrived from New Haven Monday morning, and one of them expects to return in May. In the meantime they expect to give considerable attention to the establishment of a number of enterprises. and industries for La Grande. The llemen are both enthusiastic over the prospects of the Northwest, and state that every transcontinental lipe of railroad will be taxed to its fullest capacity in supplying transportation to the immigration that will transportation to the immigration that will pour into this country this year. Several other New Haveni capitalists are looking toward the Northwest as a favorable field for investment, and among all the towns of the interior their choice is La Grande.

It is worthy of remark that Mr. Rull, one of the most active and enthusiastic members of the new association, had his attention first directed to La Grands through the descriptive article written by General Typer and published in The Oneconian last Jane. Since that time he had taken great pains to thoroughly inform binself in regard to the town's prospects and resources, and the larged investment of Eastern capital made in Lu Grande yesterday is one of the pains to the roughly inform himself in regard to the town's prospects and resources, and the larged investment of Eastern capital ande in Its Grande yesterday is one of the direct results of the article aforesaid.

La Grande's improvements during the year 1889 amounted to over $250,000, including street improvements to the amount of $16,000, five miles of streets were opened and one half miles graded and three and one-half miles of sidewalks were haid. During the same period six new additions were laid out including 352 acres, and more than half of the same has been sold. The real estate sales during the first two weeks of the new year amounted to $60,000, and with the big sale yesterday, and others likely to be consummated, the amount will reach $100,000 for the month of January.

Four other saw mill plants will be put in operation in the mountains as soon as the weather will permit. One of them will have a capacity of $5,000 daily, and will be supplied with a narrow gauge railroad reaching back to the best timber beits. The contract bassles bear let for a three story planing mill and sash and door factory. One lumber back to the best timber beits. The contract bas also been let for a three story planing mill and sash and door factory. One lumber firm has contracted to deliver to the Denverde. Rio Grande Railroad Company 750,000 ties. The Grand Roade Lumber Company has a large force of workmen employed in constructing flood gates in the Grand Roade river, preparatory to making a big drive of logs. It is evident that the lumber industry is becoming one of yest importance to Lu

An agent of the railroad contractors, who have the contract for the construction of the branch road to Eigin, arrived in La Grande yesterday, and is figuring with some of the local sawnill men on contracts for bridge timbers to be used in the construction of the line. Mr. Autonelle, one of the conand active work on the construction will begin as soon as the weather will permit.
Work on the electric light plant is progressing favorably. The power house is flushed und-all the machinery and appliances have arrived. It is the intention of the company to have as efficient and servicable a plant as if is possible to secure. One of the largest stockholders of the company recently refused a premium of 5 per cent, on his stock, which is certainly an indication that there is great faith in the success of the arr

The recent genuine winter weather and the abundance of snow is looked upon as a hoon to this section. It has been the universal experience that this kind of a winter has been conducive to abundant crops, and the surplus products of Grand Ronde this year will be larger than eyer before known. The Board of Trade of La Grande has under consideration a number of propositions looking toward the establishment of various enterprises, including a big hotel and a machine shop and foundry.

Editor Oregonian—Dear Sir: I am not in the habit of puffing advertising doctors, but I cannot let this opportunity pass without mention, in justice to the afflicted as wall as Dr. Darrin. The doctor has cured me of a troublesome calarirh and bronchitis of seven years standing, by electricity and naddeline. The cure is perfect and permanent. I cheeringly recommend his treatment, and will answer all letters addressed to me all Portland, Jan. 23, 1890.

There is something about the success Drs. Darrin are meeting with which is truly hard to credit, yet we have it from persons whose versality we cannot doubt, that their cures are remarkable. The above case is peculiarly striking. Professor Looney is a man of undoubted integrity and well known throughout the state and nation. The above card to Drs. Darrin is positive proof of the unexampled success which attends their treatment. It shows how radical as well as anoxpected, are many of their cures, and how chronic diseases of many years' duration are anable to resist their skill, and is but one of the many cases which the doctors have undertaken, and is only one of the scores of patients to whom they have restored health. The author of the above statement, we haveful assurance in saying, was actuated in publishing the same by no other motive than gratifude for his cure and a desire to make known the means to others as unfor functe as kinself. When we reflect what a great boon is bealth—when we consider that without it the slightest appreach to happiness is impossible—that it is, in short, the groutest earthly blessing—can we be otherwise than, immeasurably surprised to find anyone who has lost this great treasure, and yet hesitakes to follow a plainly defined path leading to list recovery? To see a sick man or woman neglect or refuse to visit Drs. Darrin, who may do him or ner some good, and cannot do harm, is equally as inexplicable a mystery. Try them, at all events, common sense would suggest. A consultation will least you nothing. The doctors could fill the pare w

Bakersfield Californian, Eastern farmers have only one objection to having land here or in any part of California. The only point in connection with the pursuit of their vocation here that causes them to heatinte is irrigation. They have been accustomed to rain, and to do it artificially seems expensive and laborious. But as we have before shown, those who practice the art flad it easy, and prefer it to rain, unless it comes in the cool season of the year, when the most important operations of the form are appropriate and operations of the form are suspended, and few crops are growing except grain and alfalfa. They prefer it because it imparts that certainty to crops which is wanting in rainy climates, making agricult trat pursuits uncertain and risky, while, peradoxical as it may seem, it costs less than rain, because during the irrigation season the sky is never overcast with clouds and the sun obscured leverenst with clouds and the "sin obscured for days together, retarding the growth of props." Where there is no rain during the growing season, and the soil is supplied with Irrigdous mobilities, crops being never blacked in their growth, push forward with a rapidity and luxutione of which those accustomed to rainy and colder chuntries can form no dies. "The weather-never enforces idleness and the unitaried products are never dishaged."

form no idea. The weather never enforces idleness and the matured products are never damaged.

Irrigation, then, is actually less expensive to the fur nex-than rain. All these things considered, and, as we have herectofore shown in describing the hoodus operandialong one effour largest irrigating canals, it may be effected with very little trouble.

When he ground is proporly prepared very little sitention is required. About all it is necessary to do is to shut dif the water when one portion is sufficiently irrigated, and to opin another gate where the process is yet to be performed. The irrigator usually so are manes things that the operation may proceed all night without his altention. The water should not be allowed to come into-contact with the plunts: It is importantiate if should reach them by permeating through considerable intervening soil.

Horace Greeley describes irrigation as "the prace one are of not too much." Water in this soil and climate producer such wonderful results that the temptation is ever present it use it too freely. When this is done, the fruits and vegetables, or whatever the crops may be though yielding wonderfully and phenomenally beautiful in appearance, are poor in quality and quickly decay. We speak now of this vicinity where the under fruinage is perfect and the water passes of quickly, as it always should where irrigation is practiced. In other places where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good we have seen where the drainage is not good in the passes of the proper in the proper in the passes of the proper in the passes of the passes in the good we have seen whe

The Eles Crop of 1889.

The Rice Crop of 1889.

Dan Talmage's Sons, Char eston, New Orleans and New York, write as follows, giving a good account of this important crop for 1889: The harvesting of the rice crop is not only completed, but its threshing and milling so far advanced that the outcome can now be accurately determined. Earlier estimates are more than fulfilled, except in the content of the co estimates are more than fulfilled, except in the case of Georgia, the falling away in that start, however, being made up by gains in the Carolinas. The total product along the Atlantic rough is 190,000 barres, as against 145,000 bawies fast, year.

The yie of (cleaned) of the respective states its asfulle ws: North Carolina, 22,500 barrels; South Carolina, 105,000 barrels; Georgia, 62,500 barrels. Louisiana turns out much better than expected in the early harvest, and the yield will fully equa that of last year. The entire crop was cut and housed under ur usually favorable circumstances, and it is, herefore, in better slape for carriage than for several years past. The quality is of high order in the Carolinas; fair to good in coulsiana. The present range of values is & to I cent per hound below immortation cost of equal grades of foreign rice. Grafting Vagetables. Many old results may be attained by anyone engaged in horticultural pursuits if there is a mind to experiment. The American Agriculturalist thus speaks of experiments in the grating of vegetables: "Annuals, or herbaceous plants, belonging to the first part of the month. I first shadow the grading of vegetables: "Another shadow the first shadow the here and grow on each other is readily as do woody plants. Thus, a caudidower will grow on a cabbage, a tomato on a potato, or vice versa. The garden etcumber will grow on the wild vines of the same tamily, which are some imes used for covering arbors. And these grow to an extraordinary length, while the garden encumber sellom exceeds six or eight feet. The knowledge of gratting annuals may be utilized and made profit-cide, especially when the pointo is forced to ripen seed by engratting or insarching on the ton to the control of the control of the country windows of any building by training one of the wild cucumber vines—either Sleyes angulatus, the single-seeded of star cacimber vine, or the Ectinocystes, or wild balsam apple—either of which grows fifty or skry teet in a single season up to the desired height. This is easily done by sowing cucumber seed of any of the garden varieties in a flower pot, and when the plant is six or eight inches high joining it to one of these wild vines when it has reached the desired height. Merely see aping the bark of each and tying them irruly together with any soft material is sufficient. They will unite in about ten or twelve days, or sooner, and produce fruits at a height to which the garden cucumber could never attain."

Dr. W. B. Gillier, Winnippe, Munitobe, says:
"I have used it has typical case of indigestion with billion uses, and found it to be, without exception, the best thing I over used in such cases."

But there has not been more than that lasted only six days.

R. G. Sanford, of Five Mile creek, Wasco county, while digging a well, started a blast with a two-foot fuse. The explosion took with a two-loof itse, The explosion tool place when he was within eighteen feet of the surface, and the concussion raised him about six feet and let him fall very suddenly. He was badly scared when hauled out, and ns pale as a ghost. It is well to have a good blast in a deep hole.

At a revival meeting in Roseburg a speaker stated that "a man was dying at Camas valley not long since. There was no doctor there, and no doctor of Roseburg would go to administer to him because the rinn had no money; but God in his infinite love for man to have him from a burning hell, sent his only becotten son to suffer and die for mon-sinful rebellious nibn." This, says. the Eugene Journal, made a good showing for the Lord, but it was a find one for the doctors of Roseburg.

Half a dozen women made a begging tour through the bay cities of Whatcom county last week. They were all middle-aged and buxom looking, and each earried a wherey baby and little book contaming their harrowing tale of wee printed in four languages. The books were well thumbed as though they had often told their story. Beggary is becoming a prosperous enterprise on Puget

The bills of costs filed in the office of the auditor of Whitman county, in the Bianton and Russell murder cases, for witnesses alone, and not including costs of court, juries, etc., foot up in the former case to $1717 50, of which $308 40 is for expert med-teal testimony. In the case of Eyssel the physicians come in for a larger shure, their fills being $608, and the total $3029 90. Add to this the regular cost of running the court, and the amount becomes lenormous.

Commenting on a news item which says the Portland, Lower Columbia & Eastern railroad "will start from a point somewhere near Vancouver" the La Cames News says: rainfoad "with start from a point somewhere near Vancouver," the La Camas Ages says:

"This end of the road, spoken of as being near Yancouver," needs no explanation. It simply means that the provisions nature has so generously lavished upon La Camas are appreciated, and that a brilliant future awaits our lown. DEDUCTION OF INDEBTEDNESS. Mothed Through Which Wealthy Persons Escape Taxation.

Polk County Observer.

It is continually urged that "the scheme of not allowing any deductions for indebtedness would result in a great deal of double assessment and consequently double toxauniformly fall upon those who are least able to bear up under such double burdens. It would fall upon the poor and those moderate means who are often compelled to incur indebtedness or sacrifice what little property they have to the rapacity of a heartless creditor." Also, that "the only cause of complaint under our present system lies in the fact of under valuation. But the money lender must consent to have all his property assessed, and the land owner must consent that his land shall be assess at its full vatue. We must all come to the common ground before the subject of taxation can be satisfactorily adjusted."

But the notion that we shall upon this common ground" is utopian. nover will be assessed at its full value. The owners will not permit it. Except money and credits her property as assessed at its full value, nor one-half its value, nor its it likely to be. It is this fact that opens a wide door to frauds through deductions of indebtedness. A man may own real estate in Portland well worth $50,000 and yet sceape all trianton because he owes or pretends to owe $10,000 or $15,000. A man-may own in Line county 1000 acres of land worth $30,000, and yet by being indebt a few thousand have nothing to pay. debt a few shousand have nothing to pay. In Portland and all over the state are in-numerable lustances of this kind. For many years great numbers of the wealthlest prop-erly-owners in the state have managed through manipulation of indebtedness. nearly or quite to escape taxation. And it will go on just so long as deductions are al-

It is an error, therefore, to assume that if deductions were disallowed the "burden" would fall chiefly "upon the poor and those of moderate means. The greater part of these frauds are practiced by rich and well-to-do people, who habitually manipulate indebtedness are means of shirking targets. to-do people, who habitually manipulate indobtedness as a means of shirking taxes. Norts it fine that double taxution would, to any extent, be the result of refusing to allow deduction of debts. Property will never be assessed, upon an average, at one-builf its yalte; so if no deduction for debts be permitted, double taxation will be practically impossible.

Moreover, there is no warrant in the constitution for deduction of indottedness and it was not allowed in Oregontill many years after the constitution was adopted. It was put in the laws as the work of demagogues, and like all work of the kind it has wrenght nothing but mischief. It operates to defeat the equal tantion that the constitution requires; it exempts from taxation fully one-half the property of the state; it offers and pays a steady premium on rescality; it takes the burden of taxation from where the constitution has placed; it, and stunds as an life separable obstacle in the way of every effort to make all property bear equal burdens. So long as it is allowed, all efforts to secure equality of taration will be fuffer, so properly are rubbed out every year by deduction of debts amounting to but small per centage of the value of the property, and the debts are often fightious, or made on purpose to defir and the tax roll. Shall this continue forever?

Property Owners Expressed—The property owners of North Portland are a little exercised over the general occupation of a good portion of two or three preminent blocks by the French eiger stores and less distinguished houses of ill fame which have been removed from Taylor and crass streak. There are aid to be two less than forty of such places within a stone's throw of the Merchants, Quimby and International. Respectable and prompt paying tenants who have occupled houses and stores for, cight and ten years have been thrown out for these higher renters. One gentlemna is reported to have gald: "II I had known that a part of my old homestead which is old recently was to be used for such purposes, it might have laid unproductive." It is said that a movement is already on foot holding to a general ventilation of the matter about the time of the spring election.

as well as domestic. It is idle to assert that any transportation facilities can make the cities of St. Louis and Chicago as convenient for the receipt of arricles sent from foreign lands to swell the exhibit as are office upon the seaboard the exhibites of clies upon the scanoura. The problem of inlang transportation, however carefully it might be worked, would certainly be a serious one in the estimation of forogen exhibitors. The apparent wilingness of New York to secure all the advantages. ages likely to accrue from the fair with the least possible cuting to itself, is the feature of that only's effort to secure the exposition that is the most reprohensible, but it is not unlikely that it is will be ignored by congress in making the selection of a site for an un dertaking in which the credit of the nation will be largely avolved. Setti h and greedy as New York is, it is undemably the me tropolis of the nation and as such it pre sents advantages for this great exhibition which offices not less ambitions, though 1 os sibly less selfish do not possess

INDUSTRY MOVING WIST

The Boston Icald is the franke-t as well as the ablest of the groun of New Ingland papers that are clamoring for free trade in raw materials, in the interest of the New England manufacturer The Herdid not only knows what it wants but knows why it wants it, and in t ashamed to tell Instead of bepraising free trade as an abstract public ortho theovers it as a concrete private ben efft. It does not pretend that the removal of the duty on raw materials will benefit the people of the country who do not buy or use these articles until they have been worked up into hinished goods which are projected, and which the Herald and papers of tisschool intend shall continue to be protected by a high rate of duty. It does declare that free trade in raw materials, together with he maintenance of the duty on finished goods will benefit the New Eng land manufacturer, who is beginning to suf for from the competition of [Western rivals nearer hold to the source of domestic mater iols and to the market than the New Fue lander In a recentarticle the Herald pointed out that the New England iron manufactur ers must either have free coal and fron ore so they can got their material from abroad or abandon New England and move their factories to the West, where they can get iron and coal at less cost for transportation, and market their product neargrithe place of manufacture Answering a Worcester news-paper that is somehow unable to under stand how New England interests would be sagrificed by maintaining the duty on coal snerificed by manufativing the duty on contant from the Herald says.

The senset tailff bill is detrimental to New England industries. If our Worcester contamporary does not believe this we would suggest that it correct its misbelled by tailing the trouble to have an inquiry made by Mr. Phillip L. Moen of the Washburn & Moen Manufacturing Company of its own city, who has not only signed the petition in favor of free coal and free from one in common with ax Governor Amos and other from manufacturers of the New England states but has within the last fortuight been in Washington to enter in person a protest against the taxes that will be imposed upon the materials used in his factory if the so called sense bill is passed by also abuse of representatives. The Washpurn & Manufacturing Company is we believe, the largest industrial establishment. we bullere, the largest industrial establishment in Worcester, and, if we are not in staken is the largest iron and steel working plant in the New Lingtand states. If this cuttre establishment Impland states. If this entire establishment with the great and divers fied employment that it gives to the people of the city of Worcester were to be removed to Western Ponnsylvania Ohio or Tennessee we fame, that the Relating is world realize that $\mu$ are since of New England interests held heen made We do not say that such a transfer will tale place, but from our knowledge of the conditions rightly give Moon in the the Washin ranks Moon in the transfer will not be dead to due to the present start Raws, or unpart out under the present start Raws, or un that the Washin rate Moon Maguinstuding Company could under the resent instiffication, or under the set atte bil, earry on their bus ness to bet ter advant go in these far away dislices that they can in the city of Worester and what is more the conditions that are disadvantageous to them are constabilly increasing in intensity unless a change is made werks, nothing to sav-ing that a transfer such as we have referred to

This is most attract vels honest | There is not a bit of Springfield Republican humbug about it The Herald understands that the aron industry can be more profitably carried on in the Ohio valley, so long as it employs domestic raw haterial, than on the North Atlantic soust. It demands free trade in coal and from that the New England roam facturer drawing his supplies from abroad where they are more cheaply produced, may continue in business, in softe of Western competition. This is all right from the point of view of the New England manufac turer, but who else is going to gain envilling by a prolongation of his purely artificial id vantage in the nandfacturing business? Not the domestic consumer who will continue to pay the same price for highly protected flushed goods. Not the comestic producer whose market for coal and prowill be restriceed by foreign importations for the use of New England. The deminator tree raw materials is a purely wift by pleafor the Eastern manufacturer. The change would benefit no one else and would in ure the contraction of the c both the producers and manufacturers of the enterior t is all yers wed for New Fugland to make this claim through be newspayors public speakers and members of congress but the rest of the country should unders and just what it mean It is a plea or the artificial prolongation of an unscientific economic condition which the operation of natural laws, if left to them selves would speedly correct. The building up of manufactures upon the North Minute coast resulted from the accident of the aggregation of population there aided by the adopt on of the national policy of protection a caust foreign competition. These enabled them to prosper in spite of their d stance from the source of the 1 raw materials on he one hand, and from the domestic merkets, on the other But with the settle ig of the interior these condi-tions have the nged Labor is as about and industrial conditions are as favorable in the Mississippl valley is in New England With the growth of population in the in terior the ultimate market for manufactured goods is removed further and further from New England every your Naturally indus-try follows population to the West all the more so as the march brings it nearer to the source of suprly of raw material and reduces the expense of tran portation. This has been going on new for a full generation and the Pastern manufacturors are beginning to feel the sharp pressure of compet tion from reals in all espects more favo this situated. Instead of accepting the situation they have been trying with genuine New England plack and ingenuity to evade it in various ways. The chance for free trade in raw materials is one of these w s lt i a device of the New Lughand manufac red to sty he march of industry west and thes reperfectly nurranted users ploying it out it is more agreeable to see there do it honosily as the Boston Merald does instead of masking will fit be the dor-pretended economic one or like the first held Pepill as a Nobody can then he was Eighand for a lactance to plat with him a

FAGLAND AND PORTUGAL

The popular demonstrations of hostility The popular demonstrations of hosains, is England reported from Lisbon impress an intelligent observer as about A simple recited of the facts is sufficient to justify the course of England. The region which Portugal under compulsion, has agreed to evacuate includes the Shire river country. which lies north of the Zimbesi river and comprehends all that river valley and the surrounding highlands between Lale Navassa and the Ruo river, an affluent of the Shire river, over 200 miles south of the lake. The other, region is Mashona land, a large district about Lo miles directly south of the most northern purt of the Zambest. The Portuguese for over two centuries have never made any attempt until receitly to explore or control this region. Recently however, a Portuguese explain led an expedition up the Shire river as far as I also Nyassa, established a chain of pulltary sta-hous a ong the river and declared the entire region to be under Portuguese sovereignty He informed the British missionaries, wh had been in the country twenty-hine vests, that they must consider themselves as under Portuguese protection Recently the sol diers under Cardoso's command se red one of the steamers of the African Lakes Company and hauled down the British flag which flying This British company has been in the country eleven years, has three steamers on the river and lake and a chim of trading stations and it has done much to develop the region and promote its best in

About the same time a Portuguese force under Major Serpa Pinto attacked and de feated a number of Makololo chiefs along the river who were flying the British fing and declared that they were under the juris duction of Great British Mushous-land has for many years been

This charter gives it large powers of admin stration similar to those formerly granted to the British East Indian Company and Mashona land was included in the region

as belt was to be its field of operations
As soon as Portugal became satisfied that Engined regarded this region as worthy of settlement and improvement she sent an expedition into Mashons-land and established a military post. Then the Portu-guese government issued a proclamation an nexung the whole country up to the Zambesi river the region including about all the country in which the British South African Company was to operate and most of which had been deelered eighteen months ago to bo British territory Iningal's claim rests on asserted discoveries made 250 years ago the British fairly answer Portugal's impu dent claim by saying that Portugal long ago forforted all claims to these regions by her failure to occupy or control thom and that she never thought of reviving the an clent claims until after British interests in these districts were developing and a large part of them had already been declared to be with notice british appears of noticence These ficts are accessary to an intelligent and accurate understanding of the quartle between Lisbon and I ondon

There is no use trying, says the Oslico Re-view, to concent the fact that Eastern Oregor is how experiencing a very wanter Snow has been on the groun hr nously for over six weeks and out on the hills and elevated ranges it is now nearly a foot average depth. It is so hadly drifted in many places that stock will not attempt to travel through it and thus they become discouraged and do not hustle for feed! consequence is that a considerable loss of live stock is sure to be sustained even if the snow should go off immediately. It is not always the deep snow that the slockmen fer so much The weather has not been unusually cald but, on the contrary, has several times been warm enough to cause the snow to melt and then afterwards freeze thus covering the ground with fee The p event winter is a hard one, and at the present there is no indication of a invorable procent there is no indication of a inversible change. While the loss will be a serious set back to me my it will teach a lesson from which they cought to profit in the luttle. That is, that it is no tonger safe to depend on the range fixed for winter and also that slock, especially sheep, must run in smaller bands to be profitable. Frue the past three or four seasons have been unusually dry which has kent the natural grass on the range from proving to its utual hight and form winter pasture but it is also frue that the bunchgrass is being killed out, so that it is no longer a fock of depend upon it for winter face. Of course we may expect in occasional mild winter when stock will tinye on the range without artificial feed. But the stockmen must learn from past expensions therefor. The restaurant and soloon adjoining are open all night variety theater people usually hover about, and as a general ining one or two hacks are stationed near the Morrison-street corner. The bakery being located in such a public place, it is difficult to understand how the burglars dared to operate here, especially when it is known that they entered the front door by cutting out an entire pane of glass. There hand here consisted of $4$ 70in change, which they extracted from the cash reginter, and come cakes It ere was a large quantity of crumbs in the back part of theistore, where the caring burglars had banquetted, and one of the costlest weeding cakes was spirited away, the inference is that one of their number is about to sail the matrimfonial seas. This is, of course providing he does not reach the city juil first.

The gredery store of F Dresser & Co. at the corner of Third and Jefferson streets, also received a call from the les ive burglars also received a call from the fes tye burglars Here an entrance was effected through the side door by cutting out a pane of glass which had been put in to admit more light into the back part of the store. The cash register sgam was the point of attack. It was rifler of about $5 in subver and $1 in copper I cent pleces. The burglars also took about 100 imported cigars and then made a graceful "streat".

PLOUR TRADE WITH THE PAR EAST Oregon and Washington Virtually Enjoy a Mo-nopoly-Attracting Attention-"Hard Wheat"

The flour trade with China and Japan, of which California, Oregon and Washington virtually enjoy a monopoly which, by their situation, they should be able to maintain, situation, they should be able to maintain, is gradually increasing, and becoming a irade of much importance. The trade has become so large that the transpor ation facilities furnished shippers here at present are not sufficient, and the trade will, in the near future, dermind incet transportation between time city and the East. This trade is already attracting attention of the reast so criticals. attention in other quarters, as is evidenced by the fact that W W Ogivic, president of the Ogivic Milling Company of Montreal, recently visited Vancouver, B C The World, of that city says

Works, o trust city says

Mr Ogivie has had under consideration for some time the establishment of a floor mill on the Pacific const to grind for the trade with China and Japan This scheme he does not deem practicable at present. The mills of Orogon and Washington now control that trade, having the Washington now control that trade, having the surplus grain of those two states at hand, while were a mill established in Vancouver the supply of grain must necessarily come from Manitoba and the borthwest. The wheat supply of Manitoba, he said, could not be refied on yet to be steady, but in a few years he thought a constant supply could be obtained. The Manitoba wheat, being graded No 1 hard wquid eventually replace the Oregonian flour in the Eastern market, as Oregon can only produce self wheat.

It is true that Oregon wheat is not so hard place the Oregonian flour in the Eastern market, as Oregon can only produce soft wheat.

It is true that Oregon wheat is not so hard as the wheat of Manitoba but crops are certain here and uncertain there. The wheat of the Willamette valley, while containing less gluten than hard wheat makes the whitest dour in the world which offsets any lack of strength. As to Oregon only being able to produce soft wheat, it has been demonstrated that bard wheat the Eco ch. Fife, can be grown here, and does very well, and the Biue Stem raised in Eastern Oregon contains as much gluten as the wheat of Cahfornia and yields a larger berry, but is not up to the mark in white ness. If Oregon farmers would take pains to introduce the Scotch Fife and other hard wheats they would doubtless soon be able to supply wheat with as much gluten as neces sary. At all events, the Pacific coast states, through their favorable situation, fertile soit and ahundant harvests should be able to hold the trade in flour with China and Japan again'dt all comers.

In this connection it may be stated that a and shundant harvests should be able to hold the trade in flour with China and Japan against all comers. In this connection it may be stated that a roller mill was put in operation at Nagasali Japan, on December 16. The plant for the mill was turnished by an English firm. The mill is of brick, 51x30 feet, three stories high, with twelve pairs of rollers for grinding wheat and semolina. The capacity is eighteen plouls per day, as stated by a Nagasaki paper, which is somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 barrels per day. This is the first mill of the kind erected in the far East, and from private advices received there it has not proved the success expected There is considerable wheatraised in Japan, and the product can be increased but all the flou which can be produced there can scarcely cut much figure in the China trade, and Cal forms and Oregon should continue to furnish flour for that country, unless the trade is interfered with by ill feeling on the part of the Chinese, growing out of the restriction act and similar legislation.

the Origin of the Cu.tem.

To many the Chinese New Year, harvest festival and other honders which the disci-ples of Confucius celebrate with such regalarily and interest seems to be a custom, the outcome of -parliaric superstitions and devoid of any well-founded origin.

With a view to finding out, if possible, in honor of what event or ler what reasons the New Year is celebrated by the Mongolian race, an Oakgonian reporter interviewed, cone of the more intelligent comese merchants, and it will be seen by the following statement that at least one of their holidays, this as welf-lounded an oxigin as may of our own country:
